Judging Process

1. Written Submission
All submissions will be distributed to the judging panel for the first phase of judging. Judges will score the applications based on the how well the written submission addresses each of the Judging Criteria Questions. The scores from each judge will be totaled to get the submission scores. The top finalists will be selected for the presentation and interview phase of judging.
2. Finalist Presentations & Interview
Each finalist will be asked to present a 15-minute presentation explaining the innovation. Emphasis should be placed on clearly defining the innovation, the reason the innovation was developed, the benefits to the different stakeholders, the measurable results, and the lessons learned. Following the presentation, the judges will be given 15 minutes to ask questions of the innovation representative. (These presentations/conference calls will be recorded for any judge unable to attend the scheduled call.)
3. Judges Meeting
The judges will schedule a conference call to discuss their evaluation of each of the finalists and will then come to a consensus on the winning submission.

Panel of Judges

Selected from the ITCC members, past winners, past finalists, and the ITCC Board of Directors. An individual may not serve as a judge if the organization to which they represent submits for this award.

Judging Criteria

- How strategic was the genesis of the innovation? Address a known weakness or threat, expand on a strength or opportunity, expand market share, develop a new product, service a new client base, etc.
- What was the level of innovation? Was it to improve an existing process/product/service or create a new process/product/service, was it an application of existing technology in the market or new technology, was it a high risk exploration or a low risk exploration.
- What values or benefit did it create for one or more stakeholders? How did your innovation bring value to those who hold some influence over the certifications you build? How does it benefit them while still being a benefit to the individual certified professional?
- How well do the measurable results demonstrate an impact of the innovation? Provide hard data. Show how numbers of certified professionals improved due to your innovation, or how much time or effort was saved. Be as specific with numbers as possible.
